

James Houghill Malley is a professional with a diverse background in business, technology, and education. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from the University of California, Berkeley, and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Southern California. He has worked for several major corporations, including Google, Microsoft, and Amazon, where he held various roles in product development, project management, and operations. He is currently a Senior Consultant at a leading management consulting firm, where he helps clients optimize their business processes and improve their operational efficiency. He is also an active member of several professional organizations, including the Project Management Institute and the American Management Association. He is passionate about mentoring young professionals and is often invited to speak at industry conferences and seminars. He can be reached at james.malley@houghill.com.